Conference Organizers

International Federation of Commercial Arbitration Institutions (IFCAI)

The International Federation of Commercial Arbitration Institutions was established in 1985. It now consists of 57 member organizations worldwide. The Federation's aims are to establish and maintain permanent relations between commercial arbitration institutions, foster a broad exchange of information on all aspects of arbitration and conciliation, encourage the responsible use of these dispute resolution techniques and facilitate the exchange of information on member organization services.

Bahrain Chamber for Dispute Resolution (BCDR-AAA)

The Bahrain Chamber for Dispute Resolution (BCDR-AAA) is an independent dispute-settlement institution established in 2009. In partnership with the American Arbitration Association (AAA), the BCDR-AAA provides commercial and governmental users contracting in the Arab Gulf and beyond with solutions for rapid and effective resolution of economic, financial and investment disputes. The BCDR-AAA provides state-of-the-art facilities for arbitration and mediation of commercial disputes, with a particular expertise in the commercial and investment sectors.
